Colleagues

s 22

Incoming Government Briefs will only be provided once the full ministry is sworn in.

s 22

My department will reach out early next week to provide logistical information about the delivery of your Incoming Government Briefs or letters, as well as your first meetings with ministers following the swearing in.

I look forward to meeting with you all on Wednesday 25 May to discuss these matters further.

Please contact Rebecca Carpenter, Assistant Secretary of the Strategy and Governance Branch s 22 or s 22, A/g Director of the IGB Taskforce s 22 should you have any further questions.

Regards

Katherine

Hi all,

I have attached the final IGB for your reference. Thank you all for your assistance and input in finalising this brief. It has been provided to AGD and they will advise once it has gone to the Minister's office. I expect this will be on Monday if not later today.

We are working on pulling together subsequent briefs with further information on each area and will be in touch with you for input early next week, if we haven't been already.

Have a lovely weekend.

Cheers,

Good afternoon,

s 22

What we know:
s 22

- On Friday we received confirmation that our incoming government brief (IGB) has been submitted to the Minister's Office through the Department. We also know AGD have submitted the IGB. Our IGB addressed the following issues:
 - our budget and resources
 - our legislative framework
 - ministerial submissions
 - security of payments working group meeting
 - key issues facing the industry
 - ongoing operational activity
 - legal proceedings currently before the courts.The IGB does not address how to abolish the ABCC or options to go in our place – these are questions to be determined by Government. I have made myself available for a meeting with the new Minister, as is customary, to discuss our incoming brief at a time to be scheduled.
